Updates	FRI 10 AM: Public and sharps look to be all over Tampa with the high numbers of tickets and money on their side. We'll have to take a closer look at this movement throughout the weekend. As of now, based on trends and system plays alone, Tampa is a favorable pick.				SUN 12 PM From Thursday night to Friday morning, the line moved off Tampa +3 to +3.5. However the percentage of tickets and money is all over Tampa and even increased slightly. 2% and 1% respectively. If anything, the line should have moved off that key number +3 to +2.5. However it did a reverse line move to the Saints -3.5 with the split numbers remaining the same. This lets us know the sports books have a high liability on the Saints and are trying to entice bettors on the side of Tampa even though it is not reflected in the splits. Too many questions for Frogtown have a favorable side. Lean to the Saints.

Updates	FRI 10AM: Here we go again, Tennessee's defense up against a struggling Bengals team. Line and split are fair assuming these numbers are mostly sharp. If it is, we should see the number of tickets drop closer or below 50% while the percentage of money stays about the same.				SUN 12 PM Since Friday morning, more money and tickets came in on Cincinnati however, splits are still slightly over 50% on Tennessee. Frogtown is still on the side of Tennessee due to the angles, trends, system plays and splits. Tennessee is a Frogtown favorable play.

Updates	FRI 10AM: Percent of money makes no sense as of Friday morning. This is a line we will have to track to pin point a favorable side. Trends and system points to LAC but if the percentage of money stays this low on LAC, we may need to flip or stay away.				SUN 12 PM Percentage of money increased over 50% which is what we were hoping to see. Splits show no concerns so Frogtown will will look at angles, trends, and systems plays. Las Angeles Chargers are a Frogtown favorable play.

Updates	FRI 10AM: No opinion as of yet... Check back in Sunday at noon.				SUN 12 PM. Splits have stayed the same all weekend. Splits and movement will start to move during the 1 PM games. Line has dropped 1 point in the direction of the NYJ but I believe that is just an opening line corrections. Check back at 7 PM for final analysis.
	SUN 7 PM There is so much turmoil on and off the field with the Jets, it hard to believe they can keep this game close but the Chiefs as of late, have not been blowing out many teams as well. The splits show 4% more tickets on the NYJ since 4 PM. The percent of money hasn't changed but the line moved down again to -7.5. telling us someone or some group is on the Jets. Maybe this nationally televised game will fire up the NYJ defense that started the season as a top notch squad. Though we would be getting the worst of the number since the line opened at -9.5, The play is the NYJ +7.5 or stay away.

Seattle is 5-1 L6 vs NYG and 6-0 vs opponents off Thursday nights. The Seahawks beat the Giants last year at home 27-13. Now they are on the road on the east coast on Monday night which gives them a 5PM "body clock" start. Additionally, home teams in the first 4 games of the season tend to struggle against the spread if they are coming off a road loss, 63-111-4 (36%) Moreover and detrimental in my opinion, Daniel Jones is 1-12 ATS in prime time games. SYSTEM PLAY: PLAY AGAINST any sub .500 NFL home team on Monday Night off a loss of 3 or more if they were a playoff team last season and they are facing a .625 or greater opponent coming off a SU & ATS win. What pushes us over the fence is, ATSSSTATS.com tells us: "When Seattle plays on the road vs a conference opponent coming off 2 overs are 7-3 ATS." Seattle is a Frogtown favorable play -2 or take the insurance and play them on the money line.

Updates	FRI 10 AM Trends and Systems are pointing to Seattle, however the percentage of tickets and splits points to NYG. Need to watch movement to determine if we can pin point a side.
	MON 10 AM As of this morning, there has been a 3% drop in percent of tickets on Seattle however a 6% increase in percent of money. Though more tickets are on the Giants since Sunday afternoon, more money has been coming in on Seattle. This leads us to believe more confident bets on the fewer tickets since Sunday afternoon. Seattle is the sharper play during this time. Check back at 7 PM for our final analysis.

SUN 12 PM. Percentage of tickets have been moving to NYG however, money is increasing on Seattle.
